How did we obtain your personal data?

MediaLab has obtained your data because you have provided this data to us.

What are your rights?

Under the European General Data Protection Regulation you have a number of rights with regard to your data and the processing thereof:

Access

You may access your personal information and make any necessary changes in your account. If you would like to see which personal data MediaLab has obtained about you, you may exercise your right of access by submitting a request to MediaLab.

Making changes

If you wish to make changes to the personal information that you have seen as a result of a request for access and you are unable to make the changes yourself in your account, you may request that MediaLab makes these changes for you. You may request that MediaLab modifies, corrects, supplements, erases or shields your information.

Restriction of processing of personal data

You also have the right, under certain conditions, to ask MediaLab to restrict the processing of your personal data.

Right to object

If processing of your data takes place on the grounds of 'legitimate interest' by MediaLab or a third party, you have the right to object to that processing.

Portability of data

You have the right to obtain your personal data from MediaLab. MediaLab will provide this in a structured and commonly used format, which can easily be opened using commonly used digital systems.

Withdrawing consent

When the legal basis for a particular processing is your explicit consent, you have the right to withdraw that consent. This does not affect past processing, but does mean that we will no longer be allowed to process this data in the future. It may also result in MediaLab no longer being able to provide you with certain services.

Response from MediaLab

A request can be sent to support@medialab.co. MediaLab will comply with your request as soon as possible and in any case no later than one (1) month after MediaLab has received such a request. If MediaLab rejects your request, we will indicate in our reply why the request was rejected.

Recipients of your personal data

Your data may be transmitted to:

- Data processors. To provide the services, MediaLab shares your personal data with service providers (processors). These service providers process your personal data on behalf of MediaLab. The processing by service providers is governed by a so called data processing agreement in which MediaLab has ensured that that the service provider shall only process the personal data on instructions of MediaLab.
- Parties that are involved in the execution or fulfilment of an agreement between you and MediaLab
- External consultants

It is possible that MediaLab is required to submit your data to a third party, for example to fulfil a legal obligation.

Transfer to third countries or international organisations

It may be necessary, for instance for technical and operational reasons, to transfer your (personal) data to affiliates of MediaLab located outside the European Economic Area, namely the United States. Due to the possibility that the regulations in the area of privacy protection do not offer the same protection as within the European Economic Area, MediaLab will use the Privacy Shield or the EU Model Clauses to protect your privacy as much as possible. If that is not possible, MediaLab will ask your consent to transfer your (personal) data to countries that do not maintain an adequate protection level. You may withdraw your consent at any time.

What are cookies and how does MediaLab use them?

Cookies are small pieces of (text) information that are sent to your browser when you visit the website of MediaLab and then stored on the hard disk or in the memory of your device. The cookies placed via MediaLab's website cannot damage your device or the files stored on it. With 'cookies', we also mean comparable techniques collecting information, such as device fingerprinting. Please consult the MediaLab cookie policy for more information about how MediaLab uses cookies.

Can changes be made to this Privacy Statement?

This Privacy Statement is subject to changes. We therefore advise you to regularly read the Privacy Statement for any such changes.

Questions, remarks, and complaints

If you have any questions regarding this Privacy Statement or the way in which MediaLab uses your data, you can send an e-mail to support@medialab.co. If you have a complaint about the way your data is processed, please send an e-mail to support@medialab.co. Furthermore, you always have the right to contact the competent national data protection authority. In The Netherlands, this is the Autoriteit Persoonsgegevens.
